Expertise Delivered. Promises Kept.

Building partnerships with trust.

Founded in 1998, Groupe SCI combines its in-depth business application software integration expertise with a passion for meeting its clients' Customer Relationship Management (CRM), Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) and Business Intelligence (BI) projects.

Our objective is to become Quebec's most reputable provider of CRM, ERP and BI solutions and services that strengthen our clients' competitive advantage.

Our professionalism drives us to take our role of "trusted advisor" to heart. Our commitment to excellence enables us to live by the principle that "we are only as good as our last project." It has also resulted in lasting relationships with major clients in the life science (pharmaceutical and biotechnology), consumer goods, pulp and paper, government and other sectors.

"Going the extra mile" and "delivering on our promises" are not meaningless expressions at Groupe SCI. They capture the essence of the way we do business on a daily basis and our clients count on this approach. Our track record testifies to it and our industry-certified professionals embody it.

In the end, people determine the success of any project. This is why we carefully assemble the most qualified team for each project. We ensure that your objectives become our objectives, and that we achieve them, as promised, on time and within budget.

Process Evaluate your situation and your needs.
Propose a plan of action.
Provide the most competent team.

“Passion inspires us to strive, every day, to raise the bar on our performance and to make a tangible contribution to our clients’ success.”

A team that’s constantly on the move.

We take great pride in solving our clients’ business information management issues, rapidly and cost effectively. This ability, along with the significant customer satisfaction generated by it, has become our trademark in the industry.

We adhere to the same proven process for every project, regardless of complexity or scope. This process is based on our management team’s 30-plus years of experience working for major corporations on a broad range of management software solutions.

Meeting challenges one step at a time.

We make no assumptions and take nothing for granted. We begin by asking questions and listening, actively and attentively, to your assessment of the situation and your needs. We confirm our understanding with you to ensure everyone starts on the same page. We come back with an action plan that addresses your requirements from start to finish and then build the most competent project team to implement it.

Throughout this process, our focus is the seamless integration not only of software, but also of people. We ensure the right fit between your team members and ours. Our experience has shown us that the level of success achieved reflects, in large part, how well people communicate with each other and how much they enjoy working together. It’s a guiding principle that produces positive results for both our clients and our employees.
